CHAPTER ONE

INTRODUCTION

1.1 DISTRICT PROFILE

The Amansie Central District Assembly is one of the forty-three (43) Administrative Districts in the Ashanti Region. It was carved out of the erstwhile Bekwai District in 2004 by Legislative Instrument (L1) 1774, 2004. It has 206 settlements with Jacobu as the Administrative Capital. The District shares common boundaries with Bekwai Municipal to the north east, Amansie West to the west, Obuasi Municipal Assembly to the south east, Adansi North to the east, Adansi South to the south and Upper Denkyira in the Central Region to the south. Traditionally, the district is under the Bekwai paramountcy

The Amansie Central District can be found within Latitudes 6⁰00N and 6⁰30N and Longitudes 1⁰00W and 2⁰00W. It covers a total surface area of about 710 square kilometres (441.17sq miles) and forms about 2.5 percent of the total area of the Ashanti Region. The District has a location advantage since it is located in the forest zone of Ghana and that, the forest serves as a means of improving the climate which help agricultural production. Moreover, the district is known for its agrarian nature which is a major source of employment and offers large production of foodstuffs for most people in and outside the District.

According to the 2010 Population and Housing Census, the population of the district stood at 90,741. This was about 1.9% of the total population of the Ashanti Region. However, the district recorded a population of 93,052 during the 2021 Population and Housing Census which constitute 1.7% of the regional figure of 5,440,463. This represents the inter-censal growth rate of 0.23% between the years 2010 and 2021. Therefore given the base year population as of 2021 and inter censal growth rate of 0.23%, the projected population as at 2025 is 93,912.

The current growth rate of 0.23% is less as compared to the region and national population growth rate of 1.2% and 2.1% respectively. In terms of development, the growth rate can be considered to be on the lowest side as compared to that of the regional and national levels.
